

Here are a few online resources to get you started on exploring ethical and legal considerations around photography.

The eSafety Commissioner website is written in plain, easy to understand language and is a good resource with information with regards to online safety. The eSafety Commissioner is the Australian Government's independent online safety regulator. The aim of the commission is,

"...to help safeguard Australians at risk of online harms and to promote safer, more positive online experiences..."

- Consent for sharing photos and videos Commissioner
- Compliance-and-Enforcement-Policy-Oct2024

Australian Photographic Society.

- The APS Ethics Statement. Build around trust and respect the statement offers some good moral guidance

Arts Law

"...Arts Law is Australia's only community legal centre for the arts. Arts Law advises artists and arts organisations. We have free resources about contracts, copyright, defamation, Indigenous Cultural and Intellectual Property (ICIP), and offer workshops..."

Arts Law has a range of information with references to notable legal cases in law that have shaped our legal framework.

- Street Photographer's Rights Information Sheet - Arts Law Centre of Australia

For a look at how the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade manage photography in publications, take a look at,

- Ethical Photography Guidelines

Sports integrity Australia are another great resource,

"...We provide resources, capability and education to help, as well as offering an independent complaint handling model to address serious integrity issues around discrimination, abuse and the safeguarding of children..."

- Photography and filming of children and young people in sport