- During a cruise or other on-road component, obey speed limits, maintain safe separation and do not race, travel in an unsafe formation or obstruct other road users.

Conduct away from the venue that can reasonably be assumed as connected with the Event may result in exclusion from the Event or future events and may be reported to police or another relevant authority.

Event officials may guide vehicles within the venue. No Event official or Attendee may stop or direct public-road traffic unless that person has the legal authority and any required accreditation to do so.

Driver, passenger and vehicle responsibilities

Each driver and vehicle owner is responsible for:

- the lawful and safe operation of the vehicle;
- ensuring the driver is appropriately licensed and fit to drive;
- ensuring the vehicle is roadworthy and appropriately registered where required;
- their own conduct and the conduct of passengers accompanying them;

Alcohol, drugs and impairment

No person may drive while affected by alcohol, drugs, medication or another substance to the extent that it impairs, or may impair, safe and lawful driving.

If Event Management reasonably believes a person may be unfit to drive, it may direct that person not to drive within the venue, encourage alternative transport and contact police or emergency services where appropriate.

Pedestrian safety, emergency access and property protection

- Pedestrians always have priority in pedestrian and shared areas.
- A vehicle must not be driven through an area occupied by pedestrians unless the movement is necessary, lawful and can be completed safely.
- Emergency routes, fire access, building entrances and vehicle exits must remain clear at all times.
- Attendees must promptly follow reasonable directions from Event Management or emergency services during an incident or emergency.
- A person who causes damage may be held responsible for the damage and reasonable clean-up or repair costs, to the extent permitted by law.

Event Management powers

To the extent permitted by law, Event Management may take any reasonable action needed to protect safety, property and the orderly conduct of the Event, including:

- refusing entry to a person or vehicle;
- directing a person to stop particular conduct or directing that a vehicle be moved;
- requiring a person or vehicle to leave the venue;
- restricting a person or vehicle from attending a future event;
- suspending, modifying or cancelling the Event; and
- contacting police, emergency services, the Venue Operator or another relevant authority.

These actions may be taken where Event Management reasonably believes that these Terms have been breached or that safety, traffic conditions, venue capacity, emergency access, property or the lawful operation of the Event is at risk.

A person directed to leave must do so promptly and must not return during the Event unless Event Management expressly authorises their return.

Filming and Photography

By entering this event or area, you are entering an area where photography, audio recording, and video recording may occur.

By being an attendee, you consent to such recording and to its release, publication, exhibition, or reproduction to be used for news, web casts, promotional purposes, telecasts, advertising, and inclusion on websites or social media.

You release the organisation, its officers, and employees, and each and all persons involved from any liability connected with the taking, recording, digitizing, or publication of interviews, photographs, computer images, video and audio recordings.

If you do not wish to be subject to filming and photography, please do not participate or attend the event. You can notify the event crew/photographer on site to be excluded, and all care will be taken not to use your image, however a guarantee cannot be given.

Incidents, CCTV and evidence

The venue and surrounding areas may be monitored by CCTV, photography, video or other security systems. Where lawful and appropriate, recordings and incident information may be used to:

- protect safety and security;
- investigate an incident, complaint, property damage or suspected offence;
- identify a person or vehicle; and
- provide relevant evidence to police, emergency services, an insurer, the Venue Operator or another relevant authority.

Following an incident, Event Management may prioritise safety, limit further vehicle movement, arrange medical assistance, record the date, time and circumstances, obtain vehicle registration and witness details, take photographs and preserve relevant recordings.

Legal requirements and approvals

These Terms are event and site conditions. They do not replace any permit, approval, traffic management plan, traffic guidance scheme, development approval, liquor approval, noise requirement, public liability insurance requirement or other legal obligation that applies to the Event.

Any event-specific instructions, venue rules or safety procedures issued by Event Management operate in addition to these Terms. Applicable law prevails if there is any inconsistency.

Responsibility for unauthorised conduct

A person who engages in unlawful, dangerous, reckless or anti-social conduct acts independently and contrary to these express conditions. WAHRA, the Event Organiser and the Venue Operator do not authorise or condone that conduct.

Nothing in these Terms excludes, restricts or limits any right or liability that cannot lawfully be excluded, restricted or limited under Western Australian or Australian law.

Governing law

These Terms are governed by the laws of Western Australia. Each Attendee remains responsible for complying with every law that applies to their conduct, vehicle and participation in the Event.

IMPORTANT: Anyone engaging in hooning, dangerous driving or anti-social behaviour may be required to leave immediately, and suspected offences may be reported to the Western Australia Police Force.
